I want you to do well in this course, so please let me know if you are having difficulty with the class material.

Course Description (from catalog):

An introductory course in Christian ethics. Relevant biblical and historical resources are examined and fundamental themes identified and traced through the Christian moral tradition. The Christian witness on selected issues such as war, racism, and abortion is considered.

Course Objectives:

1. Gain a biblical, foundational understanding of ethics from both philosophical and theological perspectives.

2. Students can make responsible moral decisions in difficult situations and counsel others through similar processes.

3. Be able to evaluate contemporary social issues.

4. Use moral vocabulary with precision.

Required Course Textbooks:

Bring this book to each class meeting. A Bible will also be helpful for many lectures.

Attendance Policy:

Students are expected to attend classes regularly. In the event of illness, family emergency, or an extenuating circumstance, it is the responsibility of the student to notify the instructor as soon as possible of the reason for the absence. A doctor’s note is required for excusing personal illness. Provide a hard copy for my records. Excuses will not be accepted more than one week after returning to class. It is the student’s responsibility to find out what was missed in class.

The equivalent of one week of unexcused absence (1) is allowed in this class. Each additional absence above 1 automatically reduces your final grade by 9 percentage points. Anyone accumulating a total of 3 unexcused absences may be dropped from the course with a “WF” (withdrawn, failing).

You will be considered tardy if you are not present when the roll is checked or if you leave during class. 3 tardies = 1 unexcused absence. If you are tardy, it is your responsibility to make sure you were not counted absent. If you come in more than 10 minutes late, or leave before the end of class without telling me why, you will be counted absent, and will not be allowed to take the test or quiz. Take care of all business before and after class and during the break.

Academic Honesty:
AGST places a high priority on honesty and a biblical commitment to truth. Incidents of cheating, plagiarism, or any other activities deemed dishonest will result in penalties. These penalties may range from receiving a zero (0%) on the assignment to failing the course or dismissal from the school. (According to Webster’s Collegiate Dictionary, to “plagiarize” is to steal and use as one’s own the ideas, words, etc., of another. Collaborating on written assignments that should be done individually, as well as turning in work done for another class, would fall under this category of dishonesty.)

Classroom Expectations and Decorum:
I expect all students to behave in a Christian manner in and out of the classroom. Turn off cell phones. Do not eat distracting food in the classroom. If you make a mess, it is your responsibility to clean it up or pay for it to be cleaned.

You may use laptops for taking notes only.

Class will begin promptly at the set time, so be ready. It will be dismissed when I finish.

Course Requirements:

1. Reading and preparation. You are responsible for completing all the readings assigned for each week. Note important vocabulary words and the reading questions at the beginning and end of each chapter.

2. Nearly every week, a quiz will be given in class that assesses your grasp of the readings and vocabulary, the previous lecture, or any other assignment. Notes on lectures and readings may be used. (10-20 pts each = ca. 50 pts) There will be no make-up quizzes, so make sure you are here on time.

3. There will be two unit exams and a comprehensive final exam. Exams will normally consist of short answer questions, vocabulary definitions, and a couple of essays. Study reading questions and lecture notes. (Unit exams = 100 pts. each; Final exam = ca. 110 pts.) Make-up Policy: A test may be made up for full credit only if the absence is excused (see “Attendance Policy” above). Contact or see me as soon as possible to arrange it. All make-up tests will be entirely essay format.
general, there will be no make-ups for unexcused absences. In certain cases, though, I reserve the right to allow unexcused make-ups, but only with a significant deduction of points.

4. Presentation on Decalogue. Each student will be assigned a commandment from the Decalogue to teach to the class in a ten-minute presentation. At least the following issues should be addressed:
   a) Exegesis that situates the text in its original historical context and discusses key terms;
   b) the scope of the commandment;
   c) a broad, positive statement of the commandment;
   d) the best biblical texts for preaching this commandment;
   e) modern application, including at least one example of how the commandment is commonly broken by Christians.

Prepare a handout that summarizes your presentation. Bring enough copies for everyone in the class. Due Sept. 29. 100 pts.

5. Topical paper and presentation. Write a paper on a topic of your choice that takes a stand on an ethical position. You will select some ethical issue and do independent reflection concerning it during the course. You will write a 6 to 8 page paper. Topics that arise from the readings will be appropriate, or you may suggest your own topic of interest. I will have the final right of approval. Topics are due, in writing, Sept. 8.

The content must be based on an ethical claim over which there may be some reasoned disagreement, and you must defend a particular viewpoint. For example, “A discussion of abortion” would be an unacceptable thesis, but “I oppose abortion for the following reasons…” would be acceptable. The thesis should be stated in one sentence and include at least one of the following words: support, oppose, permissible, impermissible, obligatory.

The paper should be divided into two main sections. In the first section, you will make your positive case in favor of your viewpoint. In the second, you will raise and refute the strongest objections to your claim. N.B.: Do not short-change the second section. You must convince me that you have read deeply and thought seriously about your opponents’ points of view, and that you can credibly refute their best objections.

You should explore your topic fairly deeply—consulting a variety of reputable sources would be appropriate. Due Nov. 3.

Additional guidelines:
   a. 6-8 pages (Times New Roman, double-spaced, not including cover page and bibliography).
   b. Use Turabian style footnotes and proper, academic English style.
   c. Assessment criteria will include such things as: clearly stated purpose, logical organization, faultless style, evidence of research, and interaction with sources.
d. At least five scholarly sources should be consulted. These sources may include relevant surveys, special monographs, and peer-reviewed journal articles. Do not cite unsigned articles (whether online or in print). Do not cite sources in the bibliography unless they are used in the paper.

e. Papers are due at the beginning of class, Nov. 3. A penalty of 10% each week will be assessed to late papers. Papers will not be accepted after Nov. 17. 75 pts.

After the paper has been returned to you, present the core of your paper to the class in a five- to ten-minute presentation. The presentation must be polished and professional. Visual and other aids may be used sparingly and must contribute to understanding the issue. Be prepared to answer questions and objections. 25 pts.

6. Reflection Paper. Each student must write a paper that consists of two parts. a) The first part is a personal code of ethics. It should include principles by which you live your life and the reasons for them. It should also be specific to your chosen vocation, enumerating practices that are obligatory and others that are prohibited. This first part of the paper should be at least two pages (“page” means double-spaced, 12-point, Times New Roman).

b) The second part of the paper is a response to a case study to be selected by the teacher. In light of your personal code of ethics, how would you address the situation? How does your response differ now from when the course began? This part of the paper must be at least two pages in length. Due Nov. 24. 75 pts.

7. Extra Credit: Write a careful review and evaluation of an approved book from the bibliography. (See the structure for book reviews posted on my resources at http://austingrad.edu/resources/faculty.) Points earned will be commensurate with the length of the book and the depth of the review. Due Nov. 24. Late work will not be accepted for extra credit. (up to 20 pts. on final exam)

Grading Scale: ca. 825 points total

90-100% = A  80-89 = B (“Good”)  70-79 = C (“Average”)  60-69 = D  0-59 = F
