Rubel Shelly (Ph.D., philosophy / Vanderbilt University) has spent his adult life in Christ-focused ministry through local-church preaching, teaching at graduate and undergraduate schools, and writing. His commitment is to a non-sectarian presentation of the gospel message.

Shelly ended a 27-year ministry with the Family of God at Woodmont Hills in Nashville in 2005. He also taught at Vanderbilt University School of Medicine and Tennessee State University in Nashville. Two of his recent publications are The Jesus Proposal (co-authored with John York) and Divorce & Remarriage: A Redemptive Theology.

Since moving from Nashville in 2005, Shelly has served as Professor of Philosophy and Religion at Rochester College in Rochester Hills, Michigan. He is particularly interested in showing the relevance of the Bible to daily life for his students. In May of 2008, Shelly was named President of Rochester College.

He and his wife, Myra, have three grown children who have given them nine wonderful grandchildren to love and spoil.
