To: Participants in the Session on Text to Sermon, Tuesday May 24th

From: Allan McNicol

By now you should have been informed that the text we will work with at the seminar is Matthew 25:14-30; the Matthean version of the Parable of the Talents.

By now you should have found some resources on the text we made available. If not check with Debbie.

I have prepared a sermon which I will discuss and (in full text) make available for discussion at the session on May 24. (I always say that you will go home with at least one sermon from Sermon Seminar!)

This time we will focus on putting the sermon together. Please come ready to share how you go about this. Younger preachers who struggle with this aspect of preaching may benefit greatly from our discussion together. So you are especially welcome. This is not a lecture but a work session. If you have an outline on this text please bring it.

I look forward to seeing you.
